

Things have been kind of bizarre around here since I discovered I'm a ninja and my kitten, Connor, can do karate.

Let me rewind...

I used to be your average, everyday kid.

Then, after I turned ten, strange things started happening. I found out that I was adopted. And that I have AMAZING ninja skills.

This turned out to be quite handy because I needed ninja skills to protect Green Valley from the evil Dr Kane.

Dr Kane wants to take over Green Valley so he can mine the town for rare purple gems.

The gems are very powerful. We found this out when Connor got scratched by one and suddenly he could talk and do karate. Wild. right?!

No-one knows about my new ninja skills except my mum, my dad and Mrs Gray.

Mrs Gray is a little mysterious. All I know about her is that she's somehow connected to my birth father. And she's an awesome inventor!

Mrs Gray has been giving me lessons on how to use my ninja skills and invent things, which has been super cool.

Unfortunately, one of my inventions got me in BIG TROUBLE ...
