AN EPIC NEW ADVENTURE SERIES FROM BEST-SELLING AUTHOR ANH DO.

Twins Noah and Skye are stranded on a remote island—washed ashore after a wild storm that hit when their village was mysteriously attacked ... and their mum was taken.

Isolated from all they know, the twins must learn how to survive in this new world of unknown coast and caves. They'll battle deadly orcas and ravenous sharks ... and befriend an unforgettable family of dolphins.

Will they survive long enough to find out what happened to their mum? Will they ever find their way back home?

Set in the world of the wildly best-selling Wolf Girl series, Dolphin Twins is an action-packed combo of adventure, mystery, survival and friendship, set upon a backdrop of beaches, bays, abandoned ships and underwater caves.

SALES POINTS:

- First book in the all-new series from Anh Do, set in the world of the wildly best-selling Wolf Girl series.
- Latest soon-to-be smash hit from Do, who has over 10 million books in print across the globe.
- Epic adventure with thrills, spills and friendship, told by the twins in dual narrative.

Soldiers were rounding up the villagers. We watched in horror as Clive was pushed out of his shop with his hands cuffed.
'We have to stop this!' said Skye, rising.

I pulled her back down. 'Are you crazy? We're just kids. We don't even have any weapons!' Skye wrenched herself free. 'What are we going to do then?! We can't just watch!'

Then I saw a big rock drop into the water right in the path of the creature's gaping jaws. Skye's aim was perfect.

GLOMP!

The shark swallowed the rock whole, and was suddenly thrashing about, trying to work it out of its mouth.
I surfaced.
'Swim!' we yelled at the same time.

SKYE
As I swam away, I wondered when I would feel the rows of sharp teeth clamp down on me. I couldn't help but glance back at the dark shape chasing us. Something fell from its mouth, and I knew the shark had managed to spit out the rock.
Fifty metres to shore ... forty metres ... The fin broke the surface, heading towards us again.

'Split up!' I yelled.
'At least it will only get one of us!'

I tried to fumble the abalone from my sack, hoping to repeat my trick throw from before and lodge it in the shark's mouth. But the shell slipped from my hands, away into the deep.
When I looked back up, the great maw of the shark was taking up my entire world. It was all over ...

Deep in the rain forest, danger awaits ... Glory knows that the dragon world is wrong about her being “a lazy RainWing”. Maybe she wasn’t meant to be one of the dragonets of destiny, but Glory is sharp and her venom is deadly ... even if it’s also still a secret.

So when the dragonets seek shelter in the rain forest, Glory is devastated to find that the treetops are full of RainWings who nap all day and know nothing of the rest of Pyrrhia. Worst of all, they don’t realise—or care—that RainWings are going missing from their beautiful forest.

But Glory and the dragonets are determined to find the missing dragons, even if it drags the peaceful RainWing kingdom where they never wanted to be—into the middle of the war.

Nothing has been going right for Jinx. People at school think she's a goth weirdo, and now her parents are getting divorced. She has to move to an apartment that doesn't feel like home—and that doesn't have her dad. And when a neighbour gives her a mysterious crystal, her life is turned even more upside down by the Adorables, a mischievous band of magical creatures. They are messy, distracting, and, worst of all, they follow Jinx everywhere. Getting rid of them turns out to be harder than expected, but they might just help Jinx find her way back to happiness.

looked. I thought with relief, like a spaceship ought to look.

"Follow me," said Bonnie/Bonnie as they headed towards the far end of the room.

As we walked, none of the aliens we passed showed any surprise that we were there, which struck me as odd. If I worked on a spaceship doing computery things and looking-into-screens kind of things and general space-agey things, if I was busy working quietly away at the start of a long voyage and a completely different species strolled past, then I'd be surprised. Wouldn't I? I reckon I'd at least look up and raise an eyebrow or something like that.

But no one did.

We got to the far end of the room and there, behind an enormous desk, sat another Bonnie/Bonnie who looked exactly like all Five and ran across the tarmac to our shuttle.

"DOLL E!" came a familiar voice from behind us. It was Bobby Twelve Warts, out of his chef's gear and now looking smart in a three-piece suit, spats and a cravat, with his hair neatly combed. He'd even shaved.

Big Boss stopped and turned back to see what Bobby wanted. We did the same.

"Wassup, Bobby?" drawled Doll E.

"Are you pilchards going to Six Sunsets? Love to see you there," said Bobby.

"What do you think, Big Boss?" said Doll E. "Shall we?"

"I'm very tempted if you're going to be there, Bobby!" said Big Boss. "And now I think about it, I'd better not go to Deep Brain Seven just yet. Yes, going somewhere random, that'll lose You-know-Who."

"Who are these three?" said Bobby, pointing at us.

"Thieves. Throwing them into space once airborne," said Big Boss.

Childhood friends Eve and Andrew are destined to be together—everyone says so, especially their friends and classmates who are all suddenly crush-obsessed. So when Eve and Andrew’s first eighth grade school dance rolls around and Eve, feeling the pressure, awkwardly asks Andrew to go with her, everyone assumes they are Officially Dating and Practically in Love. Overwhelmed, Eve and Andrew just go with it. And it’s weird. Neither of them wants this dating thing to mess up their friendship, and they don’t really see each other that way. But they also don’t want to be the one to call things off, the one to make things super awkward. So they both—separately—pledge to be the worst boyfriend or girlfriend ever, leaving it to the other person to break up with them. It would be genius ... if the other person weren’t doing the exact same thing.

SALES POINTS:

- This delightful and relatable coming-of-age story will stay with everyone who reads it.
- Themes include: peer pressure, hormones, mixed feelings, gasp-worthy pranks.
- Perfect rom-com that you won’t be able to put down.

Alfie watches as the city he calls home crumbles in the Christchurch earthquake. From this tragedy, he gets a second chance at life; a heart transplant that links him forever to one of the victims.

Dani's diagnosis is grim. She's already survived cancer once, but knows there's no escaping it this time. She refuses to suffer like her mother did, or put her father through that again.

When Alfie and Dani meet, she takes him into Christchurch's sealed-off cordon—where they discover a world beyond anything they could have imagined, a world where time stops.

SALES POINTS:

- Hartley has written a YA love story of subtle magical realism that explores the struggles and joys of growing up in the shadow of societal and personal tragedy.
- Readers are shown Alfie and Dani's world through their own eyes, sharing their goofy, fun times, as well as their tender ones, as the relationship blossoms.
- Set in the post-quake Christchurch of 2011.
