DEATH BY ADVENTURE

BRADLEY TREVOR GREIVE

PROLOGUE

Most kids didn't watch a TV show to make themselves feel physically sick, but Beastmaster General fans were different. The big, hairy man onscreen was blinding out of both nostrils. It was his own fault. Obviously. He was holding a wriggling whip scorpion in his mouth—greatly sharpening its sticky barb between his lips while he gaped around inside a hollow tree for a container big enough to hold the hissing insect. Millions of viewers simultaneously groaned in disgust.

The whip scorpion, a huge, evil-looking male, began to spit up acidic digestive fluids onto the oversized spikes covering his red pedipalps—his long, suspended baseball bats studded with nails. The angry arachnid got hold of the man's mustache, pulled his scaly ear and fire,

* With its feebly long legs and great spine 'stom', the yellow whip scorpion looks so terrifying that it was featured in the movie version of Henry Danger and the Castle of Fear.

The Beastmaster General

There was no doorman in front of Greive Manor. Instead, two steel traps, each a meter wide and three fingers deep, filled in the brim with disinfectant, were placed in front of the double doors. The intense fumes, like a bathbath of cat actions, made the frightened children's eyes water.

It was too cold and too early to think clearly. Despite Lord Greive's instructions, the children had to wait until the night before. Of the original dozen that had made the trip to Hobart, less than half remained. At 5 am, the all-terrain charter bus had arrived in Tasmania's Central Highlands and dropped them off at the estate's front gates. The forbidding black metal-and-timber barrier had opened and closed smoothly with a dull screech of rusted metal that scraped against granite dust and grit. The low rumble of the engine if you could call it that, was there like a low growl of a bear, as the two kids sneezed back quickly, sneezed by

Enter the dark forest at your own risk. When legendary wildlife adventurer Lord Greive advertises for a junior field trainee, thousands of children apply. After all, who wouldn't want to risk being torn apart by wild animals just for the chance to work with their hero? Only six finalists make it to the front doors of creepy Greive Manor in the remote Tasmanian Central Highlands. But before they can attempt the dangerous wilderness challenges the beastly Lord Greive has set for them, they must escape the vicious Tasmanian devil trying to hunt them down inside the manor. Who will make it? And if they do, what are their chances of surviving a week in the terrifying forest ... ALONE? Where it's dark, it's cold and everything bites.

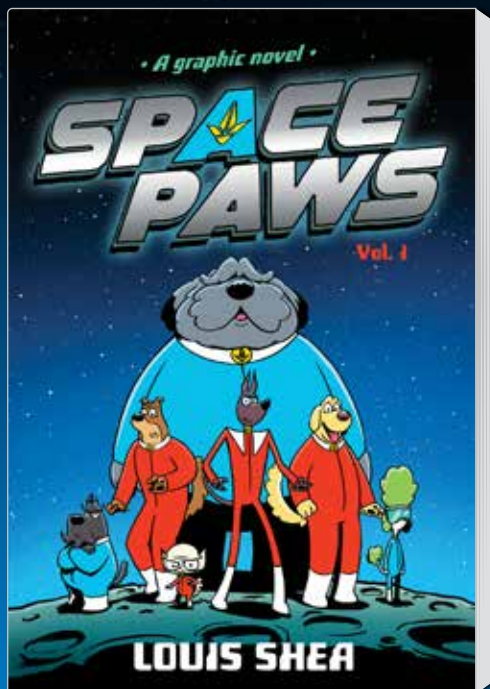

KEY SELLING POINTS:

- Brand-new, exciting middle-grade adventure by New York Times best-selling author Bradley Trevor Greive, whose The Blue Day Book (published in 2000) has sold more than 30 million copies in 115 countries and is a two-time ABIA Book of the Year winner.
- Bradley is a respected conservationist, a former paratrooper commander and a trained cosmonaut who's been to the wildest corners of the world, stood toe to talon with the most dangerous creatures in the world and lived to tell the tale.
- Bradley produced the Netflix film Penguin Bloom, based on the book he wrote, and numerous television series and wildlife documentaries, including Fear Island—Fortress of the Bears, Little Giants, Nature's Strangest Mysteries: Solved, Adventure Beast, Queer Planet, Modern Marvels and History's Deadliest, and provided numerous voices for the Oscar-winning animated blockbuster Finding Nemo.
- This is The Crocodile Hunter meets Bear Grylls meets Squid Game in a wholly unique adventure for middle-grade readers.
- Includes gorgeous, gritty black-and-white internal illustrations.

Walker-Sherman merger." She nodded her head slowly, her eyes distant as she looked at the ceiling fan above us. I could almost hear the wheels turning in her mind as she pieced together my puzzle. "You created a completely new version of yourself. And now your past and your present are colliding."

"Pretty much." I shook my head, then cupped my hands over my face.

"I thought I sensed something."

"Maybe you're the witch."

"Witch, please." There was a hint of seriousness in her voice. "I know we decided high school was going to be different—that we were going to be cooler than we were in middle school. But I thought that—"

"That we were going to lean in to our true selves and shine? I know." I flared my nostrils as I sat up. "And then I freak out and lie my way through the first days of school."

"It's messy," she said with a sigh. "And I thought we had enough on our hands with Terri."

"Yeah, what's the deal there?" I propped my knee on the bed and turned to her, relieved to take a break from my secrets and focus on hers. I wasn't as

... 53 ...

Avery Jones is ready for a fresh start, and what better time than the first day at a new school? That's where she meets Madison (the influencer), Teresa (the genius) and Corinne (the athlete). Each one is so unique and cool, all Avery wants to do is impress them. So when she sees an opportunity to twist the truth a little, she takes it. After all, a little white lie never hurt anyone ... right? But when Avery's new school merges with her old school, she finds herself in way over her head juggling two lives and her new friends are starting to get suspicious. Will Avery be able to fix things before her friends figure out the truth?

KEY SELLING POINTS:

- Fresh-start friendship story: Avery navigates the pressures of fitting in at a new school while trying to impress a group of new friends.
- Relatable middle school drama: Explores identity, peer pressure and the consequences of 'little white lies' in a way that readers will instantly connect with.
- Drama-packed and bingeable: Crushes, gossip, friendships and family chaos keep readers hooked from start to finish.
- Secrets and suspense will keep readers turning pages.
- Features a fun, diverse group of girls with distinct personalities—from influencer to athlete to genius—creating dynamic friendships and drama.

CHAPTER 12

The next day, the five of us met at Madison's house to practice a dance for TikTok.

"Okay, can I stop you for a sec? It's like this," Madison said, holding her bended arm perpendicular to her chest, her elbow jutting out. She pumped it to the side. "Really pump it sharply, then shift your weight to your other foot, and do the same movement with your other arm."

"Um, can I see it again?" I asked, breathless from all the dancing.

Madison didn't look winded at all, except for the faint flush of her cheeks. She looked like a veteran dancer.

Annie couldn't be more excited. She's moving to an adorable small town where she'll find the perfect friend group and maybe even her first boyfriend. Her new house has a pool, and she's getting a step-sister her age named Leela ...

Leela is NOT happy. She's leaving the bright lights of New York City to live in the middle of nowhere with an annoying step-sister AND two stepbrothers. Plus, kids at her new school seem gossipy and toxic. Leela wants out.

When a blended family brings together two very different girls each with their own secrets, crushes and schemes drama ensues. Will Annie and Leela find a way to get along, or is their luck about to run out?

KEY SELLING POINTS:

- Relatable middle grade story which explores fitting in, finding friendship and adjusting to big life changes with humour and heart.
- A story about 'opposites': Optimistic Annie and city-girl Leela are forced together in a blended family full of tension, secrets and surprises.
- Drama-packed and bingeable: Crushes, gossip, friendships and family chaos keep readers hooked from start to finish.
- Features gorgeous illustrations by Madi Wong.
- Best-selling and award-winning authors Sarah Mlynowski and Christina Soontornvat set up an irresistible series that will have readers eager for Book 2!

smiled and pushed her hair over her shoulder. "I'm sure you did. Dylan is so extroverted. The boy would talk to a brick wall."

Annie sagged a little. She'd wondered if Dylan was flirting with her yesterday, but maybe he was just that friendly with everyone.

Annie had never been able to figure out what boys were thinking, even though she lived with three of them. But they didn't count.

Whenever Annie liked a boy, she sweated, she made embarrassing comments, and she overthought absolutely everything. Of course, her awkwardness had never mattered because she'd never lived in a place long enough to have a boyfriend.

"Maybe I could be in the retirement home club, too!" Annie asked, her heart racing.

Nessa scanned her clipboard. "Sorry. Our club is full."

Was it just Annie, or did Nessa seem not sorry at all?

"You'll have to join the fall fundraiser committee with Beth," said Nessa.

Beth leaned over and whispered loudly, "It's the most intense one. The party is in three weeks!"

people. When Sadie spotted someone she knew, she turned around and went the other way.

Hal Her mom totally remembered people here. People who she wanted to avoid. What exactly had happened all those years ago?

Leela spotted the glaring guy from her history class walking through the stands.

He turned in time to see her looking at him, so she quickly turned away.

She looked back. He was still looking at her. Was he glaring again, or was he squinting in the bright lights?

He couldn't hate her for no reason, could he? She had to figure it out. She decided to follow him.

"Be right back," Leela said to Annie, Mia, Aidan, and Josh, who were all engrossed in the halftime performance. She quickly got in line behind the guy at the concession stand.

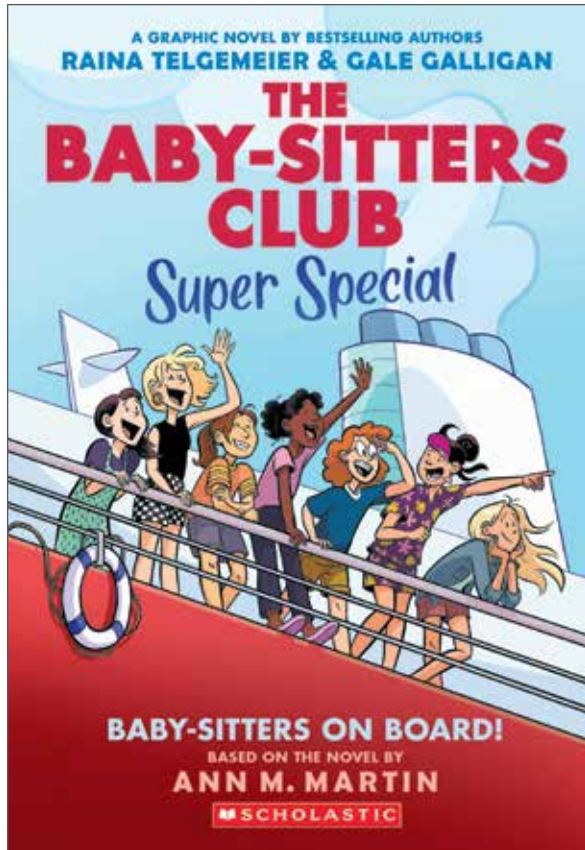

"How's the popcorn here?" Leela asked.

He turned around, then seemed taken aback that it was her. "Were you talking to me?"

"I was! I was asking about the popcorn. Is it soggy?"

He slowly nodded. "Yes. It's soggy."

Experience the complete Hunger Games saga, from the rise of the Capitol to the spark that ignited a revolution.

In the ruins of a place once known as North America lies the nation of Panem, a shining Capitol surrounded by twelve outlying districts.

The Capitol keeps the districts in line by forcing them all to send one boy and one girl between the ages of twelve and eighteen to participate in the annual Hunger Games, a fight to the death on live TV ... And the odds are against all who play.

With all five of Suzanne Collins's Hunger Games novels in one box set, which includes the latest and exciting long-anticipated second prequel, Sunrise on the Reaping, you can step into the world of Panem with the 10th annual Hunger Games, and continue all the way to the electrifying conclusion.

KEY SELLING POINTS:

- This beautiful deluxe five-book box set includes all the books in Suzanne Collins's internationally best-selling Hunger Games trilogy plus bestseller, The Ballad of Songbirds and Snakes and the highly acclaimed Sunrise on the Reaping.
- With new artwork by Freya Betts, this is a must-have collection for fans and newcomers of this phenomenally successful series.
- These gorgeous paperback editions look stunning in a specially designed slipcase.

A wilderness adventure!

Eleven-year-old Dylan is still reeling from the injury that shattered his all-star Little League dreams back home in Boston. His film-maker older sister offers him the trip of a lifetime: to travel with her as she films a world-famous lion expert in the heart of southern Africa.

Dylan's days in the wilds of Botswana are filled with awe and wonder—elephants splashing in lagoons, leopards growling under star-lit skies, herds of zebras racing through golden grasslands, glittering snakes basking on tree branches—until disaster strikes.

A plane crash hurls Dylan into the unforgiving wilderness, where deadly creatures are on the prowl. Alone, injured and terrified, Dylan must summon every ounce of strength and as he faces the deadliest predator of all: the African lion.

KEY SELLING POINTS:

- New York Times best-selling author Lauren Tarshis transports readers deep into one of the most breathtaking—and dangerous—places on Earth: Botswana's Okavango Delta.
- Hugely informative and includes a section of non-fiction backmatter with facts and photos about this remote wilderness.
- A gripping tale which will hold the interest of reluctant readers.

Making paper aeroplanes doesn't feel like science (although this book explains some of the science behind flying paper aeroplanes), and it's not quite art. Near as we can figure, launching a regular old piece of paper so that it soars is pure magic. With magic in mind, we present step-by-step instructions for folding aerobatic amazements. The 10 aeroplanes in this book are the best we've ever seen, from the Nakamura Lock (which could just be the best-flying paper aeroplane you've ever folded) to the Spy Plane (designed to fly high and stay aloft for a longer time than most other paper aeroplanes). This big book comes complete with 40 sheets of flight-tested, ready-to-fold paper, printed on both sides in a variety of 20 colourful patterns, including leopard print, wood grain, hot rod flames and lose-it-on-the-lawn grass. It's everything you need to rule the skies.

KEY SELLING POINTS:

- 10 plane designs with step-by-step instructions for aerobatic amazements!
- 56-page book plus 40 sheets of paper in a variety of groovy patterns let you practise and fold tons of airplanes.
- A time-tested classic, this is the ultimate book of the best paper aeroplanes ever designed!

Type: ACTIVITY

Create up to 10 oh-so-cute, felted foods with faces. Learn the basics of needle felting by crafting your favourite breakfast, lunch, dinner and, of course, dessert. But wait—the editors of Klutz have made this kit easier than ever with custom templates that work like stencils to help you get perfect-looking results (while also keeping your fingers away from the needle). It works like this: set up your template, fill the template with fluff and poke with a needle to sculpt your shape. By layering different shapes, you can make everything from a slice of pizza to a square of toast. Follow the illustrated, kid-friendly instructions to make a cinnamon roll, watermelon, burger, and more! (Don't forget about the donut.) As the icing on the cake, add personality to your food friends with felted facial expressions, and then stick on arms and legs to bring them to life.

KEY SELLING POINTS:

- Fully illustrated book teaches you beginner needle felting techniques.
- Comes with everything you need to make up to 10 felted foods, from a pancake to an ice pop, and much more!
- Custom 3D templates make needle felting easy and safer for beginners.
- Felt faces, arms and legs are easy to attach to your project for instant cuteness.

12 Strays of Christmas is sure to bring cheer to even the most reluctant celebrators! With themes of belonging and grief grounded in a funny, adorable first-crush story, this book is sure to check every box on the holiday wish-list. Holly does NOT have Christmas cheer this year. She and her family just moved to Chicago, far from all of her friends and family. And now her brother's annoying (and annoyingly cute) new friend couldn't be more cheerful. And Holly definitely doesn't want to volunteer at the local shelter, with all of the dogs who remind her of the dog she lost last Christmas. When she's forced to volunteer at the local shelter through her school, she'll just have to push aside her sad feelings and ignore those cute puppy eyes. But she can't put aside her feelings when she sees Drummer, the runt of the litter, who looks exactly like the dog she lost. When Drummer gets loose during the big holiday adoption event, Holly must track him down. Will the magic of Christmas help her to reunite with Drummer?

KEY SELLING POINTS:

- A heartwarming Christmas story about real grief, loneliness and healing.
- Relatable fish-out-of-water heroine—Holly's move to Chicago and separation from friends and family gives readers an immediate emotional connection.
- Features irresistible animal appeal—puppies, shelter dogs and especially Drummer, the runt of the litter, give the story warmth and strong appeal to all animal lovers.
- Enjoy the feel-good, delightful Christmas vibe.

This YA novel stars teenage Maleficent in a dark, suspenseful fantasy story that explores the origins of her dark magic ... because evil is seldom what it seems.

Maleficent believes she is destined for great things. In her hometown, only fairies who sprout wings at age sixteen can learn magic—and though her family looks down on her, she knows that once her wings appear, they will finally recognise her potential. But when the unthinkable happens, and Maleficent is denied her destiny, she joins up with four other teens to venture beyond the town's borders. A mysterious force pulls at Maleficent, leading the group to an abandoned castle perched on a mountain. This strange place seems straight out of a dream, providing everything they need to survive and creating new rooms at will. But something sinister is afoot, too: all exits are blocked, and shadows haunt the halls. As fear and paranoia tear the group apart, Maleficent is more determined than ever to be the mistress of her own destiny. In exchange for the magic she has long desired, she'll do anything. Anything.

Zuko and Mai dig deep into Fire Nation history to unravel the mystery of a children's story coming to life—the Kemurikage! Soon after returning home following the events of The Search, Fire Lord Zuko discovers that a rebel organisation calling itself the New Ozai Society has slowly gained traction among the Fire Nation's citizens. Its goal? Assassinate Zuko and restore Ozai to the throne, before the country perishes! Laying evidence to their claim of a nation at risk are the shadowy Kemurikage—figures originating in myth who are kidnapping children across the Fire Nation. As fear takes root in the capital, Zuko, Mai and their families become entangled in a dangerous plot executed by someone they least expect.

Aang faces a decision from which there is no return. When Aang, Katara, Sokka and Toph return to Earthen Fire Industries—the factory owned by Toph's father—Aang is surprised when their arrival is met with a cold shoulder. As soon as the team is asked for help at a business council meeting, the reason for the slight becomes clear: a massive bender-versus-non-bender conflict has gripped the town and is threatening to turn violent. In order to heal the divide and save the town, Aang and the team will all face tough decisions about power and identity that could tear them apart. Join writer Faith Erin Hicks (The Adventures of Superhero Girl, The Nameless City) and artist Peter Wartman (Stonebreaker), in collaboration with Avatar: The Last Airbender creators Michael Dante DiMartino and Bryan Konietzko, in this beautiful collection of Imbalance, with a brand-new cover by Peter Wartman and Adele Matera!

Nickelodeon's hit series Avatar: The Last Airbender returns to comics with new adventures, new laughs and answers to questions that have gnawed on Airbender fans like a hungry badger-mole! Where did the last of the Airbenders hide? When was Zuko and Mai's first kiss? Who would win in an Earthbending showdown—Toph or King Bumi? And why did the Earth King decide to travel the world in disguise?! All this, plus we reveal the secrets of Swordbending, show you how the hottest game in the Fire Nation is played and uncover what happened during one of Aang's earliest adventures ... when he and his friend Kuzon went hunting for dragons! This book collects all the Airbender comics previously published in Nickelodeon Comics, Nickelodeon Magazine, Nick Mag Presents and the Airbender DVDs, plus over seventy brand-new comics pages. That's twenty-eight stories set during the original three seasons and created by a host of top-notch creators, many of whom worked on the original show!

Mako and Bolin set off towards Penquan Island in the Fire Nation to find answers to a case—and maybe a little bit of their past along the way. When a strange missing persons case falls into his lap, Mako is forced to choose between his job and doing what he feels is right! An upturned room and an unhelpful witness aren't promising starts to the investigation, but when his brother Bolin comes across a surprising clue that ties their own mother to the case, the pair embark on a journey to the small, rustic island of Penquan. The island's inhabitants seem to have things to hide, and the brothers are determined to get to the bottom of it—even if it means uncovering uncomfortable parts of their family's past. Written by Eisner-nominated graphic novelist Kiku Hughes (Displacement) with artists Alex Monik (The Legend of Korra: Patterns in Time) and Diana Sousa (Critical Role: Vox Machina Origins) in collaboration with Avatar: The Last Airbender and The Legend of Korra co-creators Michael Dante DiMartino and Bryan Konietzko!

Adaki dreams of being a powerful Firebender, but at eleven years old, he feels like he's not where he should be. So when the chance to train with his school's best firebending master arises, Adaki jumps at the opportunity, even though it means he and his friends will have to compete in a tournament full of older kids with more experience—and more attitude. When training does not go as planned—what do cooking and maths have to do with being a Firebender?—Adaki begins to wonder: Can he and his friends overcome their inexperience and defeat the older competitors? This is a 144-page illustrated chapter book centred on the world of Avatar: The Last Airbender with all-new characters and adventures.

#1 NEW YORK TIMES
BEST-SELLING AUTHOR

The debut of a laugh-out-loud illustrated middle-grade adventure from #1 New York Times best-selling author Stephan Pastis (Timmy Failure — over 2 million copies sold) and award-winning cartoonist Will Henry (Wallace the Brave), launching a new Masters of the Universe era timed to the 2026 movie event. Porter Avery is just your average boy from Fort Lauderdale, Florida, with your average boy problems: he's got a maths test he definitely should be studying for (he isn't), and a dad who's making him go to bed (he doesn't want to). But when a magical malfunction takes Porter from his very everyday attic into the very not-everyday realm of Eternia, he'll find that problems with homework and helicopter parents pale in comparison to, say, an epic battle between He-Man and Skeletor that may or may not determine the future of the entire planet?! Will the heroes of Eternia rally around their earthside visitor, or will Porter get turned into mincemeat for Skeletor's pet Panthor sooner than he can say 'By the Power of Grayskull'?

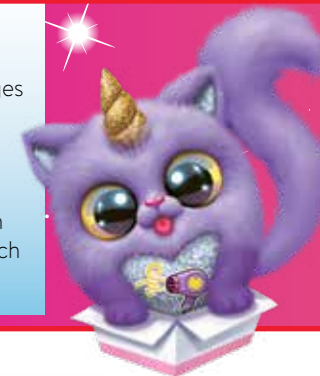

KEY SELLING POINTS:

- Few brands have the staying power of Masters of the Universe. From its 1980s origins to modern animated series, the world of Eternia continues to evolve while staying true to its epic fantasy roots.
- With its upcoming live-action film bringing Eternia back to the big screen, Masters of the Universe is enjoying a fresh wave of excitement, introducing iconic characters like He-Man and Skeletor to a new generation while rekindling long-held affection from fans who grew up with the franchise.
- Masters of the Universe features themes of teamwork, resilience and standing up for what's right, offering an action-filled world that's as meaningful as it is exciting for kids.
